V. B. PALMER'S LITTLE MANUAL, (says THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE,) contains much convenient statistics, and a good deal of information with respect to the value and cost of advertising, which we wish business men would read, as it costs nothing, and many of them are losing the sumands of dollars a year, not to speak of the losses thereby inflicted on us, for lack of advertising, and the like.

It is now, I think, beyond doubt our word, that the late Mr. Palmer's Manual, be enlighted and convinced.

It is now, contains 64 pages, and may be had gratis at the Advertising Agency, Tribune Building, or where sent, or may be had upon the receipt of a sum of money, to be paid in full by addressing V. B. PALMER, Advertising Agent, New-York.
